INSTRUCTIONS:

Download and Print:

Download and print out the skeleton template on white cardstock paper.

Cut Printable Elements Out:

Cut out the skeleton head and the included elements.

Glue Hat to Skeleton Head and Secure to Page:

Using your stick glue, position and secure the hat to the skeleton head. Using the stick glue, stick it to the top of the cardstock or construction paper.

Glue Skeleton Backbone and Rib Parts:

Take a full Q tip and create backbone/neck bone first, just below the skull head. Then cut ten small tip pieces and starting from the top going down, glue them with school glue on each side of the backbone.

Secure Boots and Q Tip Leg Bones:

Take your stick glue and secure the boots to the bottom of the page. Cut a Q tip the size you need for the leg which goes angled on the page from the backbone to the boot. I liked to leave the Q tip long enough to overlap the top of the boot just a bit at the top.

Glue Down Right Arm with Fingers:

Starting from the right side of your skeleton cut the end off of the Q tip for the length you need giving yourself plenty of room for the fingers. Once you glue it down add five tiny fingertips from the ends of the Q tips.

Complete the Skeleton Left Arm Holding Pumpkin Coffee:

For the left side of your Q tip skeleton, take a full-sized Q tip and angle it at a downward slant starting from the very top small piece. Then add another full-sized Q tip placed straight.

Cut two tips for the fingers holding the pumpkin spice coffee as well as an extra piece in the middle for securing the coffee down.

Position your coffee and glue it down with school glue.

Give everything plenty of time to dry and display the cutest pumpkin spice holdin' fall dressed skeleton that you ever did see! If you are unsure about anything, just reference the photos for any placement help you may need along the way.
